I'm allergic to fragrance. Can you recommend a fragrance-free brand that is small and cruelty-free?

Based on your preferences (animal testing='no', company size='small'), I can recommend Purito as a brand that aligns with your values. Here's why:

- Animal Testing: Purito does not conduct animal testing, which aligns with your preference for cruelty-free products.
- Company Size: While exact details about the company size are not explicitly mentioned in the reports provided, Purito is typically considered a smaller, niche brand compared to larger corporations.
- Fragrance-Free: Several of Purito's products, such as the Wonder Releaf Centella Mini Kit Unscented and B5 Panthenol Re-barrier Cream, are fragrance-free and hypoallergenic, making them suitable for sensitive skin or those with fragrance allergies.

Here's a quick summary of a product that might interest you:

Product Recommendation: Purito B5 Panthenol Re-barrier Cream

- Description: A deep moisturizing cream with a soothing effect.
- Key Features:
 - Fragrance-free and hypoallergenic.
 - Vegan-friendly.
 - Strengthens the skin barrier, hydrates deeply, and soothes sensitive or dry skin.
 - Contains active ingredients like panthenol (10%), niacinamide, squalane, and centella asiatica extract.

This product aligns with your values of being cruelty-free, small-scale, and fragrance-free. Let me know if you'd like more details!

Is their B5 Panthenol Re-barrier Cream really fragrance-free?

Yes, the Purito B5 Panthenol Re-barrier Cream is indeed fragrance-free. According to its product description, it contains no fragrances or essential oils, making it suitable for individuals with fragrance allergies. This aligns perfectly with your preferences for cruelty-free and small brands that cater to sensitive skin needs.

Do they list allergens on their site?

Based on the available information, there is no specific mention that Purito lists allergens on their website. While they do provide detailed ingredient lists and avoid common irritants like fragrances, explicit allergen listings are not confirmed. For precise details, it would be advisable to check their official site or contact customer support directly.
