6/14/25, 7:45 PM RAG Assistant

RAG Chat Assistant

[6] I'm trying to switch to cruelty-free skincare. Can you help me find an Asian brand that is 100% cruelty-free?

(animal_testing='no') and aligns with your values, here are some top recommendations:

1. SKIN1004

- Cruelty-Free Status: Verified cruelty-free by PETA's "Beauty Without Bunnies" program. SKIN1004 does not test finished products or ingredients on animals, nor does it allow third-party testing.
- Vegan-Friendly: SKIN1004 is 100% vegan, with no animal-derived ingredients in its formulations.
- Transparency: While the brand lacks Leaping Bunny certification (which requires annual recommitment and supply chain audits), it has strong ethical commitments to animal welfare and sustainability.

2. Beauty of Joseon

- Cruelty-Free Status: Verified cruelty-free by Cruelty-Free Kitty, confirming that neither Beauty of Joseon nor its suppliers conduct animal testing on finished products or ingredients.
- Vegan-Friendly Options: While the brand is not entirely vegan, it offers a selection of vegan-friendly products, such as the Relief Sun sunscreen and Glow Deep Serum.
- Transparency: Beauty of Joseon lacks certification from Leaping Bunny or PETA's "Beauty Without Bunnies" program, which would provide more rigorous third-party validation.

Both SKIN1004 and Beauty of Joseon are excellent choices for cruelty-free skincare. If you're looking for a brand with stronger third-party validation, SKIN1004 is the better option due to its PETA certification and 100% vegan formulations.

Let me know if you'd like more details or help selecting specific products!

- Are their products also vegan?
- Yes, the products mentioned from both SKIN1004 and Beauty of Joseon are vegan. Here's a summary of their vegan-friendly products:

SKIN1004 Products:

- 1. Madagascar Centella Light Cleansing Oil
 - Vegan formula with centella asiatica extract.
- 2. Madagascar Centella Ampoule Foam
 - Vegan cream cleansing foam for sensitive skin.
- 3. Madagascar Centella Hyalu-Cica Blue Serum
 - Vegan serum with hyaluronic acid and centella asiatica extract.

Beauty of Joseon Products:

- 1. Ginseng Cleansing Oil
 - Vegan deep cleansing oil with 50% soya oil and ginseng seed oil.

 $All these \ products \ are \ cruelty-free, \ vegan, \ and \ free \ from \ animal-based \ ingredients, \ aligning \ perfectly \ with \ your \ preferences!$

Ask your question here...